

Jon Nelson
Stellantis North America Chief Financial Officer

Jon Nelson is Stellantis North America Chief Financial Officer. He previously served as CEO of Stellantis Financial Services.

He brings extensive experience in automotive finance, accounting, capital allocation and financial advisory, with a career spanning senior leadership roles at Stellantis, Fiat Chrysler Automobiles (FCA) and PwC.

Following his tenure as a partner at PwC, Nelson joined FCA, where he held several senior finance positions, including group Chief Accounting Officer (2015–2017) and group controller (2017–2021). Following the creation of Stellantis, he was appointed head of Product Planning, Capital Allocation and Synergies, a role he held from 2021 to 2024. He subsequently returned to PwC as a partner, co-leading the U.S. Automotive consulting practice, before rejoining Stellantis in 2026.

Throughout his career, Nelson has played a role in several landmark corporate transactions, including the mergers that created FCA and Stellantis, and the IPO and spin-off of Ferrari, along with other large IPOs, acquisitions and divestitures in the U.S. and Europe.

Nelson holds a Bachelor of Business Administration in Accounting from the University of Iowa.

(Updated November 2026)