

Gustavo Soloaga
Stellantis Chief
Performance Officer

Gustavo Soloaga is Stellantis Chief Performance Officer, responsible for the Value Creation Program (VCP), reporting to Chief Financial Officer Joao Laranjo.

Soloaga has more than 30 years of experience in automotive finance across Stellantis and Groupe PSA, with senior leadership roles spanning Europe, Latin America and the Middle East and Africa.

His responsibilities have included group controlling, manufacturing and research and development finance, audit and compliance, capital optimization and strategic projects. He has also overseen global supply and demand, costs, investments and project profitability.

Previously, Soloaga served as Chief Financial Officer for Argentina and for Spain and Portugal, held senior finance responsibilities for Latin America and the Middle East & Africa and served as group controller. His earlier finance and controlling assignments included roles in Argentina, Spain, Portugal, Brazil and France. In 2018, he was appointed president of Groupe PSA in Argentina, alongside his regional finance responsibilities.

Soloaga graduated at the University of Buenos Aires, Universidad de Belgrano and The Wharton School.

(Updated November 2026)